To Whom It May Concern:

This letter serves as my disclosure statement for the article, “Does Science Advance One Funeral at a Time?” to the American Economic Review (MS AER-2016-1574). My co-authors are Pierre Azoulay and Joshua S. Graff Zivin.

I gratefully acknowledge financial support by the Spanish Ministry of Economy and Competitiveness (ECO2014-5555-P). I do not have any relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper.

Part of the data we use stems from the Faculty Roster of the Association of American Medical Colleges (AAMC). The first author, Pierre Azoulay, gained access to this data source through a nondisclosure agreement, which specified that AAMC can review our manuscript to ensure that confidentiality of the data is not unintentionally compromised. Notice of that fact was provided at the time of the initial submission on October 15th, 2016. The data for this project was not subject to Institutional Review Board approval.

Sincerely,
