

AER Disclosure Statement Patrick Premand

Authors: Marianne Bertrand, Bruno Crépon, Alicia Marguerie, Patrick Premand

Manuscript: Do Workfare Programs Live Up to Their Promises? Experimental Evidence from Cote d'Ivoire

1. The World Bank funded the Cote d'Ivoire Youth Employment and Skill Development Project (PEJEDEC), in which the study discussed in the paper was embedded. Data collection for the study was financed by PEJEDEC. Additional funding for the study came from the MESF and DIME i2i Trust Funds at the World Bank.
2. The experiment received IRB approval by the Human Subjects Committee for J-PAL Europe (codes:CE/2014-003);
3. I worked for the World Bank at the time the study was designed and implemented. I have not received financial or in-kind support from other interested parties in the past three years;
4. The disclosures above also apply to my close relatives;

Patrick Premand

A handwritten signature in black ink, consisting of a large, stylized loop followed by a horizontal stroke and a small upward flick.

03/03/2024