THE WELFARE STATE IN CRISIS:

An account of the Conference on Social Policies in the 1980s, OECD, Paris 20-23 October 1980.

"The dilemmas behind this conference are formidable. . . There is widespread loss of confidence in the capacity of states to deliver either full employment or welfare services. There are "tax revolts" and anti-bureaucratic movements of both the right and the left, and there is some evidence of the emergence of new values and aspirations in the populations of OECD countries seeking alternatives to the established pattern of state provision for welfare."

Professor A. H. Halsey, RAPPORTEUR

The participants in the conference, including Nathan Glazer, A. H. Halsey, Maurice Peston, Lester Thurow, Harold Wilensky and others, analyze the fundamental nature of the crisis, give their diagnosis of the problems, and underline the need to view economic and social problems together.

"The time has come to worry about the vision that lies behind income redistribution programmes and not about the technical details of this or that redistributive effort. What is that vision trying to accomplish? What part of that vision has been accomplished? What parts of that vision remain to be accomplished?"

Lester Thurow, M.I.T.

Many countries now have laws requiring that chemicals be tested and assessed before introduction into the market. In order that tests performed in one OECD country be acceptable in other OECD countries, OECD members have worked together to develop these Guidelines. The loose-leaf volume covers testing in 4 main areas: physical-chemical properties, effects on biotic systems, degradation and accumulation, and health effects. An updating program will issue revised and new guidelines resulting from scientific advances. All updates through 1983 will be included in the current base price.
