

"Rational Inattention: A Review," Journal of Economic Literature

I conducted the research for this article as part of my employment as a researcher at CERGE-EI in Prague. I did not receive outside funding except for the grants by European Research Council cited in the paper, and do not have financial or other material interests that relate to the research described in this article.

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read 'Filip Matejka', with a long horizontal stroke extending to the right.
