

Disclosure for “Complexity and Procedural Choice” by James Banovetz and Ryan Oprea

The research reported in the paper was supported by the National Science Foundation under grant SES-1949366. The research was reviewed and approved by the UC Santa Barbara Institutional Review Board prior to running experiments. The Brattle Group reviewed the paper prior to circulation and approved the final version of the paper for publication.

I have no further disclosures to make, nor any conflicts of interest.

Sincerely,
