

CSWEP

Advancing the Status of Women in the Economics Profession

- Publishes an annual survey of the representation of women in economics
- Offers mentoring workshops for junior faculty, graduate students, and early-career researchers outside of academia
 - Conducts programs at the AEA and at meetings of other professional associations
 - Co-sponsors the summer economics fellows program
 - Hosts career development webinars and videos
- Celebrates outstanding economists who have furthered the status of women in the profession
- Offers networking and education opportunities
- Publishes the CSWEP News newsletter

